Alcohol and fatigue - The Committee of Fifty found that alcohol gives no persistent increase of muscular power. It is well understood by all who control large bodies of men engaged in physical labor that alcohol and effective work are incompatible. Rivers, writing on the influence of alcohol on fatigue, found that when workmen were provided with a moderate amount of wine it resulted in a considerable diminution of their Capacity for work. Sec. 3. Tobacco and fatigue - Athletes recognize that smoking interferes. With one's wind or staying power. Inhaling tobacco smoke brings carbon-monoxide directly into the blood stream. It is found that smoking increases blood pressure, which fact possibly partly explains the reduction in. Endurance. Sec. 4. Diet and fatigue - When excessive amounts of the protein element in food (exemplified in white of egg or the lean part of meat) are taken, they putrefy in the large intestine, producing auto-intoxication. For this and other reasons, there is a present tendency among physiologists to advise a reduction in the use of such foods from the amounts customary in many countries, and especially in the United States. Auto-intoxication induces fatigue The endurance of those using high protein and of those using low protein shows in general, although with some exceptions, that the former have less endurance than the latter. Whether the latter are vegetarian or not does not seem to matter. Experiments show that thorough mastication leads instinctively to a reduction in protein. About the Publisher Forgotten Books...
