Brand New Book. Excerpt from The Public Feeding of Elementary School Children, Vol. 2: A Review of the General Situation, and an Inquiry Into Birmingham Experience During recent years the problem of underfed children in elementary schools has become increasingly prominent and the physical condition of large numbers of the growing generation is, indeed, a subject that calls for most careful attention. Before considering in detail the feeding of school children as it is worked to-day, it may be useful to give a brief account of the earlier history of the subject. Much interesting information is to be found in various Government blue books, especially the reports of the Royal Commission on Physical Training (Scotland) 1903, the Interdepartmental Committee on Physical Deterioration 1904, and the Interdepartmental Committee on the Medical Inspection and Feeding of Children attending Elementary Schools 1905, and the really interesting nature of such reports is not yet fully appreciated by the public. The detailed evidence is printed in additional volumes, and here may be found records of the practical experiences of men and women who have given much time and thought to the matter.
