Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****. Excerpt from A Discourse on Dancing: Delivered in the Central Presbyterian Church, Cincinnati In the preceding verse the Apostle beseeches Christians, by the mercies of God, to present their bodies, a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable unto God, which, he says, is their reasonable service. He would have them regard themselves as consecrated to the service of God, as completely and exclusively, as was the sacrifice on the Jewish altar. That they might do this, he urges them not to be conformed to this world, but to be transformed, their minds being renewed, that they might understand and obey the good, perfect and acceptable will of God. That we may properly understand and apply the passage before us, we may remark - 1 - That in the Scriptures the Church of Christ and the world are constantly represented as standing in opposition to each other. The world, said our Savior, cannot hate you; but me it hateth, because I testify of it, that the works thereof are evil. Love not the world, says John the apostle, neither the things that are...
