Forgotten Books, United States, 2018. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Watson s Jeffersonian Magazine, Vol. 5: December, 1910 The subscription lists, news - stand sales and advertising patronage have had a steady growth. The last year has shown a greater increase than any preceding year. Circulation and advertising revenue have doubled. The new plant is absolutely unincumbered. Everything is paid for. The stockholders will be amply protected by the assets of the Company. In addition to this will be the insurance of on Mr. Watson s life - said Insurance being payable to our publishing com pany, in trust for the stockholders. The minimum working capital of which is the amount of stock we are now offering for sale, is to be devoted to the expansion of our business along lines that we know by four years test to be profitable. You can appreciate the value of the co-operation that results to a magazine from having friends scattered all over the country who have acquired a financial interest, even if small, in the development of the publication. It is of value not only on, the business side, but on the editorial side as well, to have a number of subscribers who are also partners in the work the jeffersonians are trying to do, and for whose opinions on matters of policy the management can feel free to ask from time to time, because of this identity of interest. All those who believe in the J effs, and who understand what we are trying to do, ought to be interested in their expansion and share in their profits.
